Survey of Intelligence Information Systems Course

The Survey of Intelligence Information Systems began on 26 February. This 3-week course is designed to acquaint middle- and senior-grade intelligence officers with the information handling systems of the various agencies in the Intelligence Community. Thirty students are enrolled, including eleven from DIA; six from Defense Intelligence Agency; seven from the Army; and one each from the Air Force, Navy, National Security Agency, Secret Service, Defense Mapping Agency, and Library of Congress.
